H. LEE COOPER TO BRING COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

H. Lee Cooper

Evansville business and banking leader H. Lee Cooper, chairman of the board of CNB Bancshares, Inc., will bring the address in tonight's Commencement Exercises. A long-time member of the USI Foundation Board, he presently serves on the Foundation's Advisory Council.

Mr. Cooper has been with Citizens National Bank and its holding company, CNB Bancshares, Inc. for 30 years, rising through management to the top positions in the bank and the holding company. He stepped down last year as chief executive officer, but continues as a consultant and chairman of the board of CNB Bancshares. Under Mr. Cooper's direction, CNB has grown from a company with assets of $714 million, market capitalization of $67 million and 12 offices in the Evansville area to a $4.1 billion organization with a market capitalization of $800 million and 127 banking and finance company offices in four states. In addition, he has helped to diversify the company into profitable new business lines including insurance, consumer finance, and third-party benefit plans administration.

A native of Henderson, Kentucky, Mr. Cooper received a Bachelor of Science degree in business from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of California, Berkeley. He was with Northern Trust Company Bank of Chicago for four years before joining Citizens in 1968.

A man who leads by example, Mr. Cooper is associated with many community organizations. He is a board member and chairman of Deaconess Hospital and treasurer of Deaconess Hospital Corporation. He also is a trustee and former board chairman of the University of Evansville, a board member and chairman of Youth Resources of Southwestern Indiana, and a board member of both Vanderburgh Community Foundation and Vision 2000 Regional Economic Development Program. He is a former chairman of the Indiana Youth Institute.

Mr. Cooper is equally active in the business community, serving as a board member and former chairman of Indiana Bankers Association. He is a director of CNB Bancshares, Citizens Bank of Kentucky, Citizens Insurance of Evansville, and Citizens Trust Company of Indiana. Mr. Cooper also is a board member of Evansville Downtown Development Corporation, HBI Acquisition Company, George Koch Sons, and Peoples Security Finance Company.

He has been Executive-in-Residence for the USI School of Business and received the University of Evansville Delta Sigma Pi Award for Professionalism in Community and Commerce. In 1994, the National Association for Community Leadership awarded him its Distinguished Leadership Award and in 1997, he received the Rotary Civic Award, one of the Evansville community's most prestigious leadership awards.

Mr. Cooper enjoys mountain trekking, which he has done in the Eastern Sierra Mountains, the Grand Canyon, and Nepal, and sailing in the Caribbean Sea and Atlantic Ocean. He and his wife Ann, a former administrator in the admission office at USI, are the parents of three children.

In recognition of his accomplishments in business and community leadership, Mr. Cooper will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree in tonight's ceremony.

DALLAS BOWER SUHRHEINRICH AND PAUL TORRINGTON TO BE RECOGNIZED

Honorary doctorates will be conferred on Evansville residents Dallas Bower Suhrheinrich and Paul Torrington in recognition of their accomplishments in their careers and their philanthropy toward the University.

Dallas Bower Suhrheinrich is a former school teacher who is acknowledged to be Evansville's leading philanthropist. She has made generous gifts to many local charities and has established an endowment fund in the Vanderburgh Community Foundation. In December she included the University of Southern Indiana in her philanthropy with a $1 million gift to Campaign USI, the University's first capital campaign. In recognition of her generous gift, the School of Education and Human Services, which includes the departments of teacher education, social work, and physical education, bears her name.

The $1 million gift underwrites the William H. and Dallas B. Suhrheinrich Presidential Scholarship, with preference given to students in the Bower-Suhrheinrich School of Education and Human Services, and makes possible professional development opportunities and applied research for the faculty in the school. The gift also establishes the Bower-Suhrheinrich Endowment for Teaching Excellence, giving seed money for special projects designed to help guarantee that teaching excellence is provided not only for USI students but also for area elementary and secondary teachers.

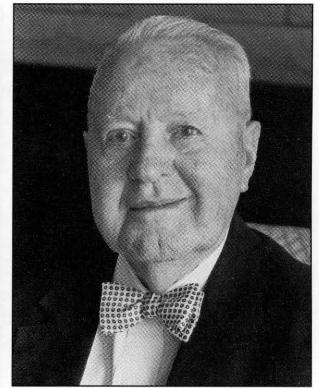

Mrs. Suhrheinrich and her late husband Bill, who died in 1985, were natives of the Evansville area. She was educated at Indiana University and taught at Evansville's Vogel School for seven years until 1944. Mr. Suhrheinrich's business career at Mead Johnson Company took them to St. Louis, Des Moines, and Chicago before returning to Evansville.

Mrs. Suhrheinrich will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree in tonight's ceremony.

Paul Torrington was born in New York City and educated in St. Louis, Chicago, and Pennsylvania before returning to New York where he entered the engineering trainee program of the Intercontinent Gas Corporation, an engineering and patent-holding corporation specializing in the design, construction, and erection of pilot plants to prove commercial feasibility. During this time, he managed a broad spectrum of projects, including those for the oil refining industry, rubber industry, and chemical industry.

Dallas Bower Suhrheinrich

Paul Torrington

He later joined Emulsions Process Corp. and was responsible for conducting industrial process design and development for a wide range of industries. Mr. Torrington received a number of patents, including one for a process to extract cytoplasm from by-product brewer's yeast, thereby recovering vitamin B complex and proteolytic enzymes in an unaltered form.

Mr. Torrington installed a pilot plant for his process at Mead Johnson & Company in 1941. The project was successful and the next year, he joined the firm as assistant to the president. Mr. Torrington's employment signaled the beginning of an aggressive research and development program at the company. He established an engineering department and began a long-term modernization program for buildings, utilities, and manufacturing.

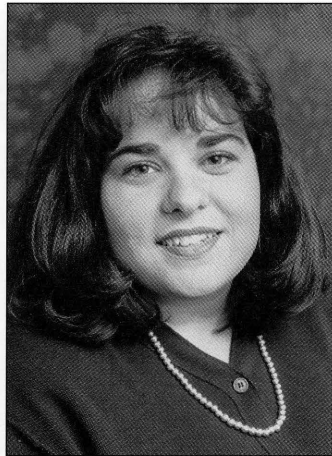

In his 30-year association with Mead Johnson & Company, Mr. Torrington managed virtually every part of the company's operations and eventually became executive vice president and vice chairman of the board of directors. After retirement in 1973, he continued as a consultant to the firm and a member of the board, but devoted a large part of his time to world travel.

Active in the Evansville community, Mr. Torrington has been a director and vice president of the Evansville-Vanderburgh County Building Authority, a board member of the Indiana Manufacturer's Association, and a member of the St. Mary's Medical Center Advisory Board.

To assist students at the University of Southern Indiana who are majoring in medical and scientific fields, he has created the W. Paul and Mildred Torrington Endowed Presidential Scholarship in memory of his late wife. The University will confer an honorary Doctor of Science degree on Mr. Torrington in tonight's ceremony.

LISA AMIANO AND MEHMET KOCAKULAH WILL RECEIVE UNIVERSITY'S HIGHEST HONORS

The University's highest academic honors will be awarded during tonight's ceremony to Ms. Lisa Amiano, a Presidential Scholar who is graduating with a major in elementary education, and Dr. Mehmet C. Kocakulah, professor of accounting.

Lisa Amiano

The Student Academic Affairs Committee of the Faculty Senate chose Ms. Amiano as this year's recipient of the President's Medal. She was chosen because of her commitment to academic excellence and her service to the University and the community.

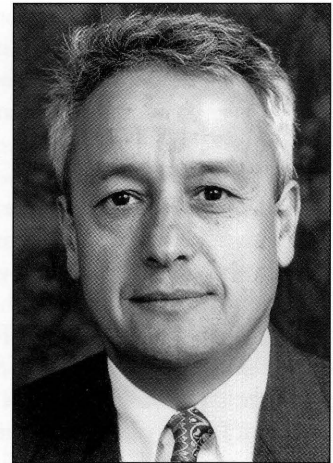

Ms. Amiano will receive the Bachelor of Science degree magna cum laude with a major in elementary education, a minor in mathematics, and a middle school endorsement. A consistent Dean's List student, she was selected for inclusion in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. She also received the Freshman English Portfolio Award. Active in student leadership positions, Ms. Amiano served as administrative vice president for Academic Affairs in the Student Government Association, treasurer of the Collegiate Democrats, and secretary of the Student Alumni Association. She also represented students on the Computer Center Advisory Committee. A member of the student orientation staff, she has been an active participant in the USI intramural program, winning the Coed Player of the Year and Sportsmanship awards. She also is a member of Kappa Kappa Kappa.

One of the professors who recommended Ms. Amiano for the President's Medal spoke of her dedication to the teaching profession, saying, "She brings elementary and middle school curriculum to life with her love of learning and her gift for being able to share this with students."

Ms. Amiano was the 1994 valedictorian at Boonville (Indiana) High School, qualifying her to apply for the Presidential Scholarship, the University's most prestigious scholarship program. She is the daughter of Joseph C. and Barbara L. Amiano, both teachers.

Other finalists for the President's Medal were Dennis A. Dahlen, Krista K. Elpers, Jenny R. Medcraft, and Ann M. Zenthoefer.

Professor Kocakulah was chosen by his colleagues to receive the National City Bank Distinguished Professor Award. The award is made possible by a generous gift from National City Bank of Evansville.

Mehmet Kocakulah

In nominating Dr. Kocakulah for the award, one colleague in the School of Business said, "He is a talented and highly dedicated intellectual with unique abilities to identify researchable issues, and the gift to motivate others to do their best."

Dr. Kocakulah is a native of Turkey, where he received a Bachelor of Arts in production management and personnel in 1972 from Ege University in Izmir and the Doctor of Philosophy in accounting in 1982 from the University of Istanbul. He also received the Master of Business Administration degree in 1977 from the University of Louisville, where he taught for three years before joining the faculty at Indiana State University in Terre Haute. He came to the University of Southern Indiana in 1987 as associate professor of accounting and was department chair of the Accounting and Business Law Department from 1991 to 1997.

Dr. Kocakulah is a member of the American Accounting Association, Institute of Management Accountants, Decision Sciences Institute, Southeast Decision Sciences Institute, Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity, and Beta Gamma Sigma. He has had numerous articles published in professional journals and he is a frequent presenter for his professional organizations. An active member of Rotary International, he has focused much of his volunteer activity toward Rotary's education initiatives. He also is active in University service, having served in Faculty Senate and its committees and as advisor to the student Accounting Club.

As Distinguished Professor, Dr. Kocakulah will receive a grant from National City Bank, will select a student to receive a scholarship in his name next year, and will deliver the Distinguished Professor Lecture at a later time.

Presidential Medallion

During the Middle Ages, medallions signified membership in religious orders and guilds and, in the Renaissance, membership in elite orders of knighthood and prominence in government office. Today, colleges and universities strike medallions to commemorate important events and achievements. The University of Southern Indiana Presidential Medallion signifies the authority invested in the president.

Fabricated in bronze, the Presidential Medallion celebrates the 1995 inauguration of President H. Ray Hoops. At its center the bronze medallion bears a three-inch reproduction of the University seal, surrounded by a half-inch rim; on the back of the medallion are the names and dates of appointment of the University's presidents. During tonight's ceremony, a replica of the Presidential Medallion will be presented to Lisa Ann Amiano. This is the highest honor given to a graduating senior.

University Seal

The University seal bears the University's colors—red, white, and blue—with gold. The shield signifies the importance of higher education in defending citizens against ignorance. Between the two banners carrying the University's name appear a band and an open book bound together by the torch of knowledge. In the band, rays of light emanate simultaneously from a rising sun, symbolizing the young University, and from the torch, symbolizing the light of knowledge and the passion for scholarship. Trees on either side of the flame suggest not only the University's pastoral southern Indiana setting but also life, growth, continuity.

Beneath this band, an open book emphasizes the importance of teaching and learning; academia populi and academia populo indicate that the University of Southern Indiana is a scholarly academy founded and supported by the people, for the people. Finally, the laurel branches to the right and left of the book represent victory: the light of learning overcomes the darkness of ignorance.

University Mace

In the Middle Ages, bodyguards of French and English monarchs carried ceremonial maces. Later, the mace became an important symbol of office in civil processions and academic pageantry; at the University of Southern Indiana, the Grand Marshal, a distinguished member of the faculty, carries the mace.

A replica of the walking cane of Richard Owen (1810-1890) serves as the centerpiece of the University mace. A respected geologist and professor of natural science at Indiana University, Owen became the first president of Purdue University. He was a son of Robert Owen (1771-1858), the Welsh industrialist who established New Harmony, Indiana, as a center for education and enlightened social reform in the early 1800s. The 32-inch-tall, wooden cane was presented to Richard Owen in 1874 and, through the generosity of his descendant Kenneth D. Owen, served as the Grand Marshal's staff until the mace was fabricated for the University's first Presidential Inauguration in 1995.

Designed and fabricated by Nicholas Logsdon of Indianapolis, the University mace encloses a replica of the Owen cane and is gold-plated. At the top, above the cane's golden head, an open orb holds a replica of the University seal. The free-flowing design of the orb symbolizes the interrelationships among all academic disciplines. Below the cane's tip are three golden rings engraved with the names and appointment dates of the University presidents. A finial at the tip of the cane bears the names of Kenneth Dale Owen and Jane Blaffer Owen, donors of the mace.

Designed and created by alumnus Kenny Fisher '77, the replica of the cane and the base are made of walnut from the Owen mansion built in New Harmony during the 1830s.

University History

The University of Southern Indiana first held classes on September 15, 1965. Born of community need and nurtured by community leaders, the University has enjoyed a breadth and depth of community support rare for such institutions. In 1967, Southern Indiana Higher Education, Inc. (SIHE), raised nearly $1 million to acquire 1,400 acres for the Mid-America University Center, and gave 300 acres for the development of the USI campus. Groundbreaking occurred June 22, 1968, initiating the first phase of campus construction. From modest beginnings in the former Centennial School building, the campus moved in 1969 to its current site.

The first phase of the architectural master plan provided the Physical Activities Center, Rice Library, Science Center, Technology Center, University Center, and Wright Administration Building. The Robert D. Orr Center opened in 1990 and the Health Professions Center opened in 1995. A major expansion of the University Center was completed in 1997. A new $15.8 million Liberal Arts Center is under construction and expected to open in Fall 1999. To meet a need for on-campus housing, SIHE built student-housing units adjacent to the USI campus. This complex, originally called Mid-America Student Housing, opened in 1984. Today the complex comprises two sites, the Frank F. McDonald Apartments and Joseph E. O'Daniel Apartments, and is home to more than 2,400 students.

Originally established as a regional campus of Indiana State University, the University of Southern Indiana became a separate state university by act of the 1985 Indiana General Assembly. Governor Robert D. Orr appointed a board of trustees, and the establishment of the University of Southern Indiana became official on July 1, 1985.

Beginning in 1965 with a freshman class of 412 students, 2 full-time faculty, 32 part-time or adjunct instructors, and a staff of 38, the University has grown to enroll 8,300 students with 384 full-time faculty and administrators, 228 part-time faculty, 394 clerical and support staff, and 635 student employees. Students study toward associate and baccalaureate degrees in more than 60 majors and toward master's degrees in seven fields. This extraordinary expansion has earned the University of Southern Indiana recognition as Indiana's fastest-growing state university.

In addition to its campus programs, USI has articulation agreements with Ivy Tech State College, cooperates with regional hospitals in providing health-professions programs, and holds classes in many off-campus sites. Through Historic New Harmony, the Historic Southern Indiana Project, the Southern Indiana Labor-Management Education Forum, the Organizational and Professional Development Group, theatrical productions in New Harmony and Lincoln State Park, and credit and noncredit classes, the University influences intellectual, cultural, social, and commercial development throughout southern Indiana.

Academic Dress

The academic costume dates from medieval days when university students wore woolen and fur garments for warmth in damp and drafty buildings. Most of those studying were clerics in holy orders; they wore a cloak to which was attached a hood that could be pulled up to cover their tonsured heads. Simplified today, the costume serves to remind us that its wearer is a member of an ancient and venerable profession; it also indicates by its color and design the wearer's degree and the institution by which the degree was conferred.

In the United States, black has been the traditional color for academic gowns, but some institutions authorize holders of their doctorates to wear colors of the institution. The bachelor's gown is distinguished by its long, open sleeves; the master's by its closed, slitted sleeves; the doctor's by its full sleeves trimmed with bands of velvet, which may be black or a color denoting the field in which the degree was taken.

The mortarboard cap, proper for all degrees, is black. Tassels, usually black, are worn over the left front quarter of the cap. Holders of the doctorate may wear tassels of gold thread.

Academic hoods vary in length according to the degree attained and are lined with the colors of the institution by which the degree was granted. The honorary doctoral hoods of the University of Southern Indiana are black, lined with blue satin with red satin chevrons. They are edged with white velvet.

Alumni Association Pins

Graduates in tonight's ceremony are receiving lapel pins with the University logo as a gift of the University of Southern Indiana Alumni Association.

Baccalaureate Scholarship Honors

The baccalaureate degree candidate graduating with the highest scholarship index is graduated summa cum laude. Baccalaureate students graduating with a scholarship index of 3.80 or higher are graduated magna cum laude. Those with a scholarship index between 3.60 and 3.80 are graduated cum laude. These achievements are set forth on the individual diplomas. Honor students can be recognized in the Commencement Exercises by colored stoles and tassels. Gold indicates summa cum laude; red, magna cum laude; and blue, cum laude.

Because students enrolled in master's degree programs are expected to maintain a minimum grade-point average of 3.0, and most achieve much higher levels, scholarship honors at Commencement are given only to baccalaureate students.

Photography During Ceremony

A commercial photographer is taking photographs of each graduate as he/she shakes hands with the President. Each graduate will receive a proof from which duplicates can be ordered. Family members who wish to take still or video photographs during the ceremony are asked to use the restricted area on the floor. Security guards will ask those who block aisles in the stands or occupy the area behind the stage to move. Your cooperation ensures the dignity of the Commencement ceremony.
