

Internship in Criminal Justice CRIM 499

This class affords students the opportunity to have a work experience in the community for a semester. These courses are a good transition from undergraduate learning to employment. The course is 3 credit hours and may be taken twice. CRIM 499 counts as a 300/400 level elective for the CJS major. This course counts toward the university's 39 hours of 300/400 level courses. Prerequisites are nine hours in criminal justice, a GPA of 2.5, and the consent of the instructor.

The supervisor of the agency, the faculty-advisor, and the student must mutually agree upon the placement. The following are agencies that have been utilized in the past. Internships are not limited to these and students can propose others.

Additionally, a student can propose any agency or company to be considered for a possible internship.

General Guidelines

1. During pre-registration the student should talk to the professor about possible internships and the student should contact the appropriate agencies.
2. For enrollment into the course, the supervisor must send a letter to the professor to detail the duties and responsibilities of the student.
3. After enrollment into the class, the student must report the internship in Career Launch in MyUSI.
4. The student is responsible for 150 hours of work at the agency. In some cases these hours are paid. The student will conduct himself/herself in a professional manner, and keep any private information learned confidential.
5. The student must keep a journal of his/her activities and share it with their professor. The journal should be about the student's duties, responsibilities, and insights. The journals should be emailed each week to the professor for review.
6. During the Fall and Spring the student will make an appointment every two-three weeks with the professor to discuss the internship and the journal. For single semester summer internship meetings will be weekly.
7. The student should meet with their supervisor as often as necessary. . If there are any problems, the supervisor and/or student should call (812-464-1723) or email (tschroer@usi.edu) Dr. Todd Schroer immediately.
8. The professor might visit the site during the time of the internship.
9. During the last week of classes, the supervisor should send a letter evaluating the student's performance and that lists the number of hours completed. It is the student's responsibility to remind his/her supervisor about the letter. NO supervisor letter equals a failing grade.
10. Also, during the last week of class, the student needs to submit a typed 5-6 page paper, which organizes and analyzes the entire internship by bringing together the journals, the discussions, and the experiences into a larger perspective. NO final paper equals a failing grade.
11. The final grade is assigned by the professor and will be based on hours completed, thoroughness of the journal, discussions, the final paper, and the supervisor's evaluation.
