

USI/Epi-Hab Center for Disability Studies

2012-2013 Scholarship Application

DETAILS OF AWARD:

Six one-time $1,000 awards will be given to USI students. To encourage participation from all students, there will be a winner from each college/division with at least three qualified applicants. The balance of the scholarships will be awarded on an at-large basis.

Students are asked to write a 1,000-word essay: Describe your proposed field of study and future career plans; include how these plans will support our mission to help advance the knowledge and understanding of disability in America and within our community. Explain how you will use your education or experience to make a difference for people with disabilities. Essays will be judged based on quality of organized thought and originality. While not specifically targeting applicants with disabilities, we encourage students with disabilities, as well as others, to apply for this scholarship.

Selection Process: The selection committee will review each application on the basis of the information submitted, in accordance with the required items. Once all the qualifications are met, the selection committee will then make its selections based on the quality of organized thought and originality of the essay and the two letters of recommendations. The chosen recipients will be notified by March 2012 and the scholarships will be announced during Honors Week.

Use of Award: Scholarship funds will be deposited in winners' USI accounts. Funds will be distributed in the fall and spring semesters (50% per semester) following the award, and may be used toward educational expenses incurred at USI including tuition, course fees, textbooks, and housing.

Each winner has a maximum of four calendar years in which to use the award (from the first registration period following the award) i.e., winners from the 2012-2013 year will be able to utilize the award beginning with the fall semester of 2012, but not before. Therefore, students expecting to graduate in Spring 2012 should not apply.

Please Note: The scholarship award will not cover expenses incurred prior to winning the scholarship.

ELIGIBILITY:

To be eligible for the Epi-Hab Scholarship, the applicant:

- Is currently enrolled at USI.
- Will be enrolled in a minimum of three semester hours at the University of Southern Indiana (USI) at the time of application and the time of award.
- Has completed at USI, or has had accepted for transfer to USI, a minimum of 12 semester hours.
- Has a minimum cumulative GPA (grade point average) of 2.7 for undergraduates or 3.0 for graduates.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

1. Submit an essay, (not to exceed 1,000 words) describing:
 - a. The student's own experience of disability in modern America, whether his/her own disability or those of others.
 - b. How the student will use his/her educational experiences at USI to make a difference for people with disabilities and for the community (see Details of Award, paragraph 2).
2. Complete and sign this form and drop off or send along with items 1 and 3.
3. Submit two letters of recommendation:
