

2021 Faculty Research and Creative Work Grant

The Faculty Research and Creative Work Grant will fund faculty research and creative work at USI during the 2021 summer term. Multiple $5,000 grants are available for faculty to initiate new basic or applied research or creative work, continue research or work in progress, or complete a project. A final report is due to the Provost/OSPRA by June 1, 2021.

Eligibility

Applicants must hold a full-time, tenured, or tenure-track position. Preference will be given to faculty members who

Criteria

- Eligible projects must be research, scholarship, or creative work conducted by faculty within the areas of the faculty member's academic training and professional expertise.
- Applications for course development, faculty development, departmental curriculum development, institutional research, consulting, or public service activities are not eligible.
- Applicants must be up-to-date on all reports from prior internal awards.

Note: While research involving students may be eligible for funding, the emphasis must be on faculty research. While students can be involved in the project, they should not be conducting the project.

Grant Information and Restrictions

Up to 3 $5,000 will be awarded for materials/ supplies, student workers, consultants, equipment. The grant does not provide funding for faculty compensation such as a stipend or release time. Use of funds for travel are subject to the current USI travel policies, which are subject to change. At this time international travel will be approved on a case-by-case basis. In some instances, travel might be approved, and other trips might not be approved due to the country's travel warnings and restrictions. Visit the USI website for more information: <https://www.usi.edu/covid-19/covid-resources/travel/>

Grant recipients are obligated to return to USI for at least one complete academic year of service. Failure to do so will result in the grant recipient repaying the award amount to USI.

Selection Process

The Faculty Awards for Scholarship, Teaching, and Research (FASTR) Committee will evaluate all proposals meeting guidelines and assign them an order of priority, carefully evaluating compensation for travel, equipment, materials and supplies, and personnel, along with the below review criteria. The FASTR Committee makes recommendations to the Provost who will select the final recipients. Preference will be given to faculty members who have not received a FRCWG within the past 3 years. Awards may partially or fully fund a proposal.

Review Criteria

- Scholarly significance to the field supported by in-text citations.
- Clarity of objectives and project description.
- Feasibility: the project can be completed or substantially advanced in the project period.
- Importance to the applicant's program of scholarship.
- The budget and the appropriateness of how the funds will be used.
- Ability to complete the project within one year.

Note: Any application that fails to include all of the required elements and/or does not follow the formatting guidelines will not be reviewed.

Application Requirements

1. Project Description (7-page limit, with 12 point font, single spaced)
Attach a project description addressing the following six criteria:

Applicant's Qualifications

- How relevant is the applicant's academic background to conduct the project? If not, how thorough is the justification?
- Is the relationship of the proposed project explained to the applicant's overall program of scholarship?
- How well does the applicant demonstrate productivity (publications, performances, presentations, past and/or present efforts to procure external funding, etc.), experience, and/or potential to implement the project as defined?

Proposal Background

- How well does the proposal describe the history of the concept for the project?
- Is the proposal supported with a brief literature review and in-text citations?
- If applying for multiple internal/external funding opportunities, describe how the proposed FRCWG project is different from other applications or how it complements the other source of funding.

Significance/Goals & Objectives

- How well does the proposal show the scholarly significance of the project to the discipline and practice, the University, the community, and beyond?
- How well does the proposed project fit the applicant's scholarly goals?
- How well did the applicant establish the project's importance and originality?

Research Methods

- How clearly does the proposal describe a plan for development and implementation? Description should include specific details regarding the development of creative design, how data will be collected, and/or what types of statistical analysis will be used.
- How well does the proposal demonstrate that the project can be completed with the available resources and in the time specified (feasibility)? Include in this section if you are applying for or receiving additional funds from other sources. If so, provide the name of the agency/program, and details on what part of the work and budget is included in other proposals and what will be funded by the Faculty Research and Creative Work Grant.

Evaluation

- How well are the expected outcomes described?
- Outcomes must be measureable. How well does the proposal describe how expected outcomes will be measured?
- Does the proposal describe the plans for disseminating the creative work or research results? Conferences, journals or other outlets for dissemination should be specifically named/identified.

Budget

- How appropriate, accurate, and justified is the budget and use of resources?
- How reasonable does the budget seem for both the effort and anticipated results described?
- Can the project be completed with the funding requested?
