Welcome to Introduction to Federal Income Taxation! There is not a more exciting time to be studying tax with tax reform happening for the first time in over 30 years. While some say that tax is “boring and dry,” I hope to make the course fun and interesting and teach you the fundamentals of federal taxation where you can be a successful business professional no matter the field you pursue. I look forward to the semester!

Course Description
Required for all accounting majors. An introduction to federal tax theory and practice as applied to business entities. The emphasis is on the examination of the role of taxation in society (legal, social, economic), procedural rules and their application, and tax planning techniques.

Prerequisite(s): ACCT 202 and junior standing

Course Learning Outcomes
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Distinguish between the statutory, administrative and judicial sources of tax law to develop solutions to tax issues and report on conclusions.
- Apply statutory tax law to the concepts of gross income and when to include or exclude an item from income.
- Analyze tax issues and apply tax law to facts to come to solutions.
- Identify ordinary, necessary and reasonable requirements for business expense deductions while applying Internal Revenue Code disallowance provisions.
- Differentiate between realized and recognized gains and losses.
- Research tax law issues effectively and efficiently from statutory, administrative and judicial sources of tax law.

Core Competencies
Research. Students will develop the ability to research tax law through the online research engine, RIA Checkpoint. Students will become competent in navigating and interpreting statutes, regulations and case law pertaining to tax issues and learn to analyze the law to help find solutions and strategies to tax problems. Students will submit two research assignments to evaluate and assess their progress in developing their research and analysis skills.
Program Learning Outcomes
ACCT 311.001 is a key component of the Accounting and Professional Services major curriculum. Upon completion of the course, students will demonstrate an understanding of federal income tax law in the United States by explaining sources and rationale for tax law, distinguishing between economic and tax items of gross income, identifying requirements for business deductions and differentiating between realized and recognized gains and losses.

Exams. The three hourly examinations will test the material as indicated in the calendar. These will be in-class tests consisting of multiple choice questions. The exam dates are listed on the schedule and are subject to change. I will provide advance notice for any changes in exam dates.

All exams are conducted via Scantron. Any answers that are incorrect because of failing to erase an answer choice completely will be marked wrong. If you need to change an answer on the Scantron, I advise to get a new Scantron or ensure that an answer is completely erased.

Final Exam. The final exam is December 5, 2019 from 9:00am CT-11:00am CT in BE0003. The Final Exam is NOT comprehensive.

Research Assignments. Tax research is a fundamental skill in understanding taxation. This course is not designed to make you an expert in tax research; however, the two research assignments should provide you with familiarity of taxation questions and sources for obtaining answers. Below is the rubric for grading research assignments out of 40 points:

Tax Returns. You will complete two individual (1040) tax returns as part of the course. Accurate reporting of activities utilizing the government forms is also a fundamental skill in taxation. Developing familiarity with the IRS forms and individual tax calculations are important for any accounting student.

Each tax return will be graded by taking the amount of total answers correct divided by the total answers possible, then multiplying that percentage by 40 points to arrive at your grade for the assignment. If you calculate an answer wrong on the tax return and that correct answer was needed to get subsequent answers, all answers that are incorrect will be marked in incorrect. In other words, I will not recalculate subsequent answers to see if they would have been right had you gotten a previous answer correct.
Professionalism. Professionalism points are a gift from me to you. However, you may lose these for rude conduct, perpetual late assignments, excessive absences or any other conduct that I deem to be inappropriate of a professional including academic dishonesty. Generally, I reduce Professionalism by 5 points per missed class in excess of your allowed absences but I reserve the right to adjust your grade less or more depending on the circumstances.

Homework Grading. Homework will be completed at the conclusion of each chapter on MyAccountingLab. Please see the schedule for due dates but generally homework will be due Sunday at 11:55pm after a chapter is completed. You will have four attempts to complete a homework assignment. Homework can only help your grade because incorrect answers will not lower your grade in the class. You will receive a point for each correct answer as if you received a 100% on the homework.

For example, if you got 3/10 correct after all four attempts then you will receive 3/3 for homework and if you got 9/10 correct then you will receive 9/9 for homework. The choice to grade homework this way hopefully encourages you to complete the homework and not be as concerned about the grade as you are about learning the subject matter. Homework should be a learning process to get you ready for the exams.

Tips For Success
I am hoping to make this class a fun and engaging class. But, Introduction to Federal Income Tax is a difficult course. You will need to spend time outside of class working on homework, reading the chapter, and taking notes. Here are a few tips to success…

- Read the Chapter
  I expect you to read the chapter before class. While you may be busy during the semester with other commitments, at least scan through the material before coming to class so you have some idea of the subject matter. Then, re-read the chapter again and highlight relevant sections after the class. Tax is the study of law, and to understand the law you have to read it.

- Be Engaged In Class
  Show up on time, take notes during class and work through the problems we do in class because that likely will be tested. I know it is tough to stay engaged and pay attention for an hour and fifteen minutes but please do your best!

- Do The Homework
  You are not penalized for incorrect answers on homework. These should be easy points to help bring up your overall score. Take the homework as an opportunity to gear up for the exam. Also, please let me know if you would like additional homework problems (that are not graded) for practice for exams. I will try to make more homework problems available to help you study for exams.

- Ask Questions
  I am here to help and make sure you succeed. Do not be passive about your success in this class. If you are confused by something, please ask for clarification during lecture. If you still are confused, come to my office hours or send me an e-mail for us to meet. Tax is a tricky subject and I do not want you to be afraid to seek out my help.
Communication Guidelines

☐ Be Respectful of Others

All class communications and interactions with other students and the professor should follow common social standards for respect and courtesy. We will discuss current tax topics including possible tax reform issues. Please be respectful of your classmates’ points of view and seek to learn and grow from any differences in opinion.

☐ Communication Expectation

Generally, contact me via my email at blbueltel@usi.edu and my office phone (812) 285-5172. I should respond to emails within 24 hours. If I have not, please try again. Most assignments will be graded within 2 days of the due date. However, tax returns and tax research assignments can take a week to grade.

Blackboard Course Site Overview

You should first go to “Start Here” tab in BlackBoard. There’s a welcome message and general information on the overall objectives of the course. You will find information on how to register for MyAccountingLab in this tab.

I’ll use Blackboard messages to communicate with the class as a whole. You should receive these messages as emails, but you can always refer back to them by clicking on the “Announcements” tab.

This syllabus is located both under the “Syllabus and Calendar” tab. Due dates are listed on the calendar and within MyAccountingLab. I may make changes to the Syllabus and due dates throughout the semester. While I will notify you before I make changes (via e-mail or in class), you will find the most updated Syllabus and Calendar in this tab.

“Assignments” is where the tax research and tax return problems are located and submitted. The “PowerPoints” tab is where you will find all PowerPoints. The “Documents” tab you will find exam study guides, articles and other documents for the semester. The “MyAccountingLab” tab is where you will find all of your homework assignments and access MyAccountingLab.

Your grades are under “My Grades,” and you can email me or your classmates directly from BlackBoard by using the “Send Email” tab.

MyAccountingLab Site Overview

All homework assignments will be located and submitted on the MyAccountingLab website. You will need to register for the MyAccountingLab website to gain access to the content. You will find information on how to register for MyAccountingLab in the “Start Here” tab in Blackboard.

Pearson offers temporary access (14 days) to MyAccountingLab during the registration process. If students choose this option, they should be sure to purchase the software before the temporary access expires to avoid missing homework deadlines.

Course Requirements

☐ Technical Requirements

- A Reliable Computer: a dedicated computer with an updated operating system, such as Windows 7 or later, or Mac OSX.
o High-Speed Internet Connection: (e.g. DSL or Cable). A wired Internet connection is recommended for online meeting, homework, and assignment submission.

o Microsoft Office & Adobe Acrobat Reader installed.

o Supported Web Browser: Firefox, Google Chrome, or Safari.

Minimum Technical Skills
Navigating Blackboard, MyAccountingLab and RIA Checkpoint, Uploading assignments

Course Policy

- Attendance
  Regular attendance in class is important to ensure you gain a full understanding of the material and have the opportunity to ask questions. With that said, you may miss two classes, no questions asked. You do not have to e-mail me a reason or let me know ahead of time that you will be absent from those classes (although you certainly can if you want). Any absences after your three excused absences must be approved by me or else I have the option to deduct points from your Professionalism grade. If the absences grow excessive, an incomplete for the course may be awarded. I understand that life happens and things come up so I am fairly understanding when emergencies or other circumstances prevent you from attending. After your three excused absences, I may request documentation for any further absences you request an excuse for and I reserve the right to verify the validity of the documentation.

  You are not excused from missing an exam without a valid reason approved by me in advance (unless there is an emergency). For an exam absence, I may ask for documentation for your absence and reserve the right to verify the validity of the documentation. The exam dates are listed in the Course Calendar but are subject to change with advanced notice. If you miss an exam without a valid reason, you will receive a zero on the exam. Be sure to arrange your schedule so you do not miss exam dates.

- Late Assignment Policy
  The “Homework” for each chapter is due on the dates indicated in on the Syllabus generally Sunday by 11:55 p.m CT. each week that we finish covering the material for a chapter. Late submissions for Homework are NOT allowed.

  All “Assignments” (research problems, tax returns, etc.) are due on the date noted in the Syllabus and BlackBoard (which is subject to change). I will accept late assignments; however, your maximum grade is reduced to 70% of the grade you receive without the point reduction due to late submission. I do not accept any assignments after the last scheduled class period of the term.

- Academic Dishonesty
  Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty including, but not limited to, plagiarism and/or cheating on an examination will be subject to disciplinary action. For more information, please visit http://www.usi.edu/media/3379739/Academic-Integrity-Policy-Interim-Fall-2014.pdf.

Diversity Issues

The pursuit of an intellectually open setting for class discussions is one of the goals of the course. Students should feel free to articulate respectfully different perceptions of the social world; however, belittling, abusive, and discriminatory language will not be tolerated under any circumstances. For more information, please visit http://www.usi.edu/diversityresources/.

Disability Statement

If you have a disability for which you may require academic accommodations for this class, please register with Disability Resources (DR) as soon as possible. Students who have an accommodation letter from DR are encouraged to meet privately with course faculty to discuss the provisions of those accommodations as early in the semester as possible. To qualify for accommodation assistance, students must first register to use the disability resources in DR, Science Center Rm. 2206, 812-464-1961, www.usi.edu/disabilities. To help ensure that accommodations will be available when needed, students are encouraged to meet with course faculty at least 7 days prior to the actual need for the accommodation. However, if you will be in an internship, field, clinical, student teaching, or other off-campus setting this semester please note that approved academic accommodations may not apply. Please contact Disability Resources as soon as possible to discuss accommodations needed for access while in this setting.

Title IX - Sexual Misconduct

USI does not tolerate acts of sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment and all forms of sexual violence. If you have experienced sexual misconduct, or know someone who has, the University can help. It is important to know that federal regulations and University policy require faculty to promptly report incidences of potential sexual misconduct known to them to the Title IX Coordinator to ensure that appropriate measures are taken and resources are made available. The University will work with you to protect your privacy by sharing information with only those who need to know to ensure we can respond and assist. If you are seeking help and would like to speak to someone confidentially, you can make an appointment with a counselor in the University Counseling Center. Find more information about sexual violence, including campus and community resources at www.usi.edu/stopsexualassault.

Class Withdrawal & Incomplete Policy

It is the student’s responsibility to officially drop/withdraw from any courses before the deadline. The university does not withdraw students from any classes. Please refer to the USI Academic Calendar (https://www.usi.edu/registrar/academic-calendar) for specific dates. For more information, please visit http://www.usi.edu/registrar. Under special circumstances, students may petition for an incomplete grade. However, it is up to the course instructor to decide if an incomplete will be granted. Students receiving an incomplete grade will need to complete all course requirements by the agreed deadline to avoid an “F” grade.

Technical Support
IT Help Desk Support

Since I am not trained as a technology expert, I will not be able to assist you with your technical needs. Please contact the Help Desk at (812) 465-1080 or send an email to it@usi.edu for technical support.
